

CLAIMS

1. A method for treating a subject afflicted with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, comprising administering to the subject an amount of creatine, such that the subject is
5 treated for amyotrophic lateral sclerosis.
2. The method of claim 1, wherein said subject is a human.
3. A method for treating a subject afflicted with Parkinson's disease, comprising
10 administering to the subject an amount of creatine, such that the subject is treated for Parkinson's disease.
4. The method of claim 3, wherein said subject is a human.
- 15 5. A method for treating a subject afflicted with Huntington's disease, comprising administering to the subject an amount of creatine, such that the subject is treated for Huntington's disease.
6. The method of claim 5, wherein said subject is a human.
- 20 7. A method for treating a subject afflicted with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, comprising administering to the subject an amount of creatine phosphate, such that the subject is treated for amyotrophic lateral sclerosis.
- 25 8. The method of claim 7, wherein said subject is a human.
9. A method for treating a subject afflicted with Parkinson's disease, comprising administering to the subject an amount of creatine phosphate, such that the subject is treated for Parkinson's disease.
- 30 10. The method of claim 9, wherein said subject is a human.
11. A method for treating a subject afflicted with Huntington's disease, comprising administering to the subject an amount of creatine phosphate, such that the subject is 35 treated for Huntington's disease.
12. The method of claim 11, wherein said subject is a human.